The German Play To-Night.
The German Dramatic Club or this city will give a performance at Abner's Hall tonight, for the benefit of the German Orphan will give a performance at Abner's Hall tonight, for the benefit of the German Orphan Asylinm. The play, written by Mrs. Emma Poesche, of this city, is called "The Amateur Theater," and is a very interesting and amesing comedy. The company is composed of the best German amateurs of Washington, Baltimore, and New York, who have spent a great deal of time and study in decorations and scenery. The different parks were written especially to suit the individual players; we therefore expect it to be a great success. The leading ladies are the Misses Poesche, Miss Donch is "the Villain." Misses Musseus and Scholle the comediennes, Messrs, Gehra and Wanzieben are the leading gentlemen, Mr.
Buynitzki a very interesting and comical reporter, and Messrs, Maschel, Lepper, and Friebus, jr., do a great deal for the amusement of the audience. The first act is a rehearsal in the parlors of Frant Schaller (Miss Poesche) of Romeo and Juliet, which the dramatic club intend to play for the benefit of "The Hospital for Cots." The second act plays in the green room of the theater, on the evening of this performance. The third act plays in the green room of the theater, on the evening of this
performance. The third act plays in the green room of the theater, on the evening of this prima donn of both the real and imaginary play, and is a very laughable affair. There are a great many comical by-plays and situathen, such as the collapse of the baleony, the sickness of Juliet, and the male servant of Capulet taking her place. In the second act the players all appear in the castumes of the imaginary play. There will be a good attendmen as the sale of seats is very large.

General Order No. 2.

Our "Grand Clearance Sale," or 5-day "Remnant Sale" opened up most au-spiciously last Saturday morning, and the response was largely in excess of our expectations, which shows conclusively that the people appreciate buying goods "under value."

We have made sweeping "Remnant" Day reductions throughout the store, and particularly upon goods that "ought to be sold before Christmas."

No customer can afford to miss this sale, as extraordinary values are now being distributed.

To-day we enumerate the following:

"Odd Lines" of Flannel Skirts.
The following lines having been reduced to small quantities, we call them "Rem-nants" and mark them at greatly reduced or "Remnant" prices, in order to close them out this week:
